WALDEN. Economy. When I wrote the following pages, or rather the bulk of them, I lived alone, in the woods, a mile from any neighbor, in a house which I had built myself, on the shore of Walden Pond, in Concord, Massachusetts, and earned my living by the labor of my hands only. Notes: 1 Susan B. Anthony annotated the copy of this speech she deposited in the Library of Congress. Here she noted in the margin "her sisters Mrs Eaton—Mrs Wilkeson—& Mrs McMartin!! all lovely women." (Holland & Gordon, Papers, microfilm, 41:934–37.) 2 Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (1807–1882), "Morituri Salutamus," written for the fiftieth reunion of the Bowdoin College class of 1825. Reviews, essays, books and the arts: the leading international weekly for literary culture Let me introduce myself. My name is Mark Sisson. I'm 63 years young. I live and work in Malibu, California. In a past life I was a professional marathoner and triathlete.
